Trust to Nature.

A great many Americans, both men and women, are thin, pale and puny, with poor circulation, because they have ill-treated their stomachs by hasty eating or too much eating, by consuming alcoholic beverages, or by too close confinement to home, office or factory, and in consequence the stomach must be treated in a natural way before they can rectify their earlier mistakes. The muscles in many such people, in fact in every weary, thin and thin-blooded person, do their work with great difficulty. As a result fatigue comes early, is extreme and lasts long. The demand for nutritive aid is ahead of the supply. To insure perfect health every tissue, bone, nerve and muscle should take from the blood certain materials and return to it certain others. It is necessary to prepare the stomach for the work of taking up from the food what is necessary to make good, rich, red blood. We must go to Nature for the remedy. There were certain roots known to the Indians of this country before the advent of the whites which later came to the knowledge of the settlers and which are now growing rapidly in professional favor for the cure of obstinate stomach and liver troubles. These are found to be safe and yet certain in their cleansing and invigorating effect upon the stomach, liver and blood. These are: Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Bloodroot, Mandrake root. Then there is Black Cherrybark. The medicinal principles residing in these native roots when extracted with glycerine as a solvent make the most reliable and efficient stomach tonic and liver invigorator, when combined in just the right proportions, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Where there is bankrupt vitality—such as nervous exhaustion, bad nutrition—and thin blood, the body acquires vigor and the nerves, blood and all the tissues feel the favorable effect of this sovereign remedy.

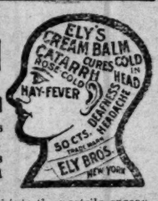
Although some physicians have been aware of the high medicinal value of the above mentioned plants, yet few have used pure glycerine as a solvent and usually the doctors' prescriptions called for the ingredients in varying amounts, with alcohol.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is a scientific preparation compounded of the glyceric extracts of the above mentioned vegetable ingredients and contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs.

Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages.

Ely's Cream Balm



cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents.

ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren Street, N.Y.

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00.

E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, Special Agents.

Catarrh

To prove unquestionably, and beyond any doubt, that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured, I am furnishing patients through druggists, small free Trial Boxes of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am so certain, that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure will bring actual substantial help. Nothing certainly, is so convincing as a physical test of any article of real, genuine merit. But that article must possess true merit, else the test will condemn, rather than advance it. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is a snow white, healing antiseptic balm, put up in beautiful nickel capped glass jars at 50c. Such soothing agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., are incorporated into a velvety, cream like Petrolatum, imported by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the stomach, then by all means also use internally, Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Stomach distress, a lack of general strength, bloating, belching, biliousness, bad taste, etc., surely call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

For uncomplicated catarrh only of the nose and throat nothing else, however, need be used but

Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure

HORRORS OF THE EARTHQ...

The steamer Thomas Brookes has arrived at Santiago, Cuba, from Kingston with 17 refugees. They paint a horrible picture of the catastrophe and confirm the reports of the destruction of the principal buildings. The pilots do not dare to enter the harbor owing to the changes in the channel.

The Machado cigar factory, in which many Cubans were at work, crumbled, and 120 of them were killed. Ninety children were killed in the collapse of a school.

The refugees confirm previous reports of the Kingston disaster. According to them 25 square blocks of the city have been destroyed by fire. Every building within a radius of 10 miles was injured. Along the water front the cracks in the earth are six inches wide. Sixty-four legs and arms were amputated on board a hospital steamer. When the earthquake occurred there were only four doctors on the island.

The awful devastation caused by the earthquake became more apparent as time passed.

Without warning the earth began to shake and tremble at 8:30 Monday afternoon. The shocks, which came from the westward, lasted exactly 31 seconds. The whole city rocked like a ship in a choppy sea, and buildings reeled and fell. Eastward a dense cloud of dust arose and enveloped Kingston in semi-darkness. The shocks were most destructive along the harbor front where entire streets were leveled. Crowds of frightened, shrieking people streamed northwards towards the racecourse, hundreds, with heads and bodies cut and bruised, covered with blood. Those who escaped with slight injury reported that large numbers of persons were buried under the fallen stores and tenements.

As the dust lifted, pillars of smoke arose in Harbor street, near the parish church and shortly afterward flames shot into the sky. It was then perceived that fire would complete the work of the earthquake. In half an hour the flames were spreading from block to block in the busines section. The fire department was unable to stay the conflagration, owing to the inadequate supply of water, the earthquake having broken the mains. Fortunately a northeast wind was blowing at the time, which confined the conflagration to the southern portion of the city. The fire raged all night and ultimately spent its force Tuesday forenoon.

The buildings in the upper portion of the city were uninhabitable and the residents sought refuge in the public parks or on lawns adjoining the wrecked houses. It was a pitiable sight. Thousands of persons were homeless, and hundreds were enduring agony from broken heads and limbs under the open sky. The city doctors were busy all night, amputating limbs and dressing wounds. The worse cases were taken to the public hospital, where the staff doctors attended to them, but many expired before morning.

Said He was Buried Alive.

Thought to be dead of yellow fever and buried, though still alive, and covered by earth for twelve hours, was the experience recited yesterday by John Caree, when testifying in a criminal trial in Chattanooga, Tenn. It was in 1878, the year of Chattanooga's dread scourge, when deaths were by the hundreds and funerals lightly attended. The old man told his story thus:

"I was taken ill of yellow fever and at once hustled to the pesthouse. The next day I died—that is they thought I did—but I did not. I suppose I was in a trance. Early in the day the burial committee put me in a coffin, and at 10 o'clock, so I have been told, they buried me. I wore a ring of some value on my finger that was claimed by a young woman. That night her friends started to take up my body to get the ring. Apparently I was just recovering consciousness, for the first thing I remember was the sound of hammering on the box. It was opened, and I felt the pulling of my finger. I sat up in the coffin, an act that frightened the gravediggers, and they ran away. I got out of the grave, but don't know what I did until the next day, when I found myself on the street in my underclothes.

Bishops' Address to the Pope.

The council of bishops in Paris has published the text of an address to the Pope adopted by the assembly. It thanks the pontiff for his encyclical, and assures him of the prelates' perfect adhesion to his judgment. It then makes indirect reference to the criticisms of the encyclical by asking: "Could a clearer light possibly have been thrown on the obscure points of all this melancholy situation. We think not."

The bishops declare that they will not remain satisfied with a state of affairs which does not recognize the hierarchy and the inviolability of the churches' property and liberty. They protest against the calumnies accusing the Pope of being influenced by considerations more or less foreign to his ministry, and accusing the episcopacy of following the Pope from discipline rather than conviction.

Ravages of Floods.

The floods in the tributaries of the Ohio river appear to be falling, but continued rains cause new fears. In Pittsburg the darkness of night has prevailed for nearly two days. At McKeesport and other places big industrial establishments suspended operations and 10,000 miners are idle. Along the Ohio in the Buckeye State the situation was reported worse, railroad and street-car traffic being demoralized in Cincinnati, while several smaller towns report that factories had to be closed and many people were driven from homes. Trains on the Baltimore and Ohio and the Western Maryland railroads are blocked by landslides and trees broken off near the ground by the weight of sleet upon them. A number of towns in West Virginia are flooded either entirely or in part, and the inhabitants have had to move merchandise as well as household goods to second stories. All the streams in West Virginia are over their banks and much damage has been caused. The people of Shawneetown, Ill., fear a repetition of the disaster of 1898, when 29 lives were lost by the breaking of the levee.

Croup can positively be stopped in 20 minutes. No vomiting—nothing to sicken or distress your child. A sweet, pleasant, and safe Syrup, called Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure, does the work and does it quickly. Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure is for Croup alone, remember. It does not claim to cure a dozen ailments. It's for Croup, that's all. Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.

Prevalence of Earthquakes.

That there is no unusual prevalence of earthquakes is the opinion of Prof. Louis V. Pierson, of Yale's Sheffield Scientific School. The recent series of quakes has happened in inhabited regions of the world and has called attention to earth phenomena, but Professor Pierson says there is probably an earthquake somewhere almost every day, though unchronicled, because in remote or uninhabited regions. Professor Pierson adds:

"There is no epidemic of earthquakes at present, nor is there anything to indicate that there have been more quakes than usual in the last year. Some scientists have tried to show that there are certain periods of years in which earthquakes are more frequent than in others, but I do not think they have succeeded in proving their case. When an earthquake reaches an inhabited country an alarm is at once given, telegraphic communication is cut off, and so forth. But there are earthquakes every bit as severe as that of Kingston occurring every day which are never heard of."

Does Coffee disagree with you? Probably it does! Then try Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee. "Health Coffee" is a clever combination of parched cereals and nuts. Not a grain of real Coffee, remember, in Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee, yet its flavor and taste matches closely old Java and Mocha Coffee. If your stomach, heart, or kidneys can't stand Coffee drinking, try Health Coffee. It is wholesome nourishing, and satisfying. It's safe even for the youngest child. Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.

A Tragic Finish.

A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea dyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth McIver, of Vanceboro, Me., permitted a little cold to go unnoticed until a large tragic finish was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes: "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation caused by a neglected cold; but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life." Guaranteed best cough and cold cure at E. S. Leadbeater & Son's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Mothers who give their children Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup invariably indorse it. Contains Honey and Tar. Conforms to the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King street.

SATURDAY EVENING, JAN. 19, 1907.

GEN. LEE'S BIRTHDAY.

Today is the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of General Robert Edward Lee, who was born at "Stratford," the home of his father, "Light Horse Harry" Lee, in Westmoreland county, on January 19, 1807. Today throughout the Southland and especially in Virginia, his native State, which loved him so well and which was equally as dear to him, the anniversary is being fittingly celebrated and indeed in every section of the country where a Southron lives some observance will be made in honor of the great chieftain. Not only was he a great soldier, but he was a good and noble man—qualities seldom combined in one person and his life from boyhood to the end was one to inspire the noblest emotions in the hearts of all with whom he came in touch or have since followed his history. He was a man who possessed all the virtues, with none of the vices of the great men who had preceded him and truly, as was said of him by Senator Ben Hill, of Georgia:

He was a foe without hate, a friend without reproach, a Christian without hypocrisy, a man without guile. He was a Cæsar without his ambition, a Frederick without his tyranny, a Napoleon without his selfishness, a Washington without his reward. He was obedient to authority as a servant, and loyal in authority as a true king. He was gentle as a woman in life, modest and pure as a virgin in thought, watchful as a Roman vestal in duty, submissive to law as Socrates, and grand in battle as Achilles.

It is fitting, therefore, that the anniversary of the birth of such a man should be celebrated and especially so in his home city, where he spent his early school days, where he worshipped, and where he had so many true and loyal friends who followed and fought with him in Mexico and from Manassas to Appomattox. We can pay no better tribute to his memory than was paid by the elder Snowden, who, in the Gazette of October 13th, 1870, in recording the death of his friend, General Lee, which occurred the day previously, said:

To say that we regard him as one of the greatest men of his age and country, is only to repeat what we have often said. His was the greatness of character and of life. To his illustrious merits as a military man were added all the virtues which should adorn a citizen. No single deed, no particular action, no solitary achievement gave him the place in the temple of fame, which by general accord is recognized as his true position. His unselfish course, his modest and retiring deportment, his devotion to duty and to principle, continued from boyhood to the end of his career on earth, were what secured the respect and devoted attachment of the people of his native State, of all who knew him, and the unprejudiced people of all countries. As time rolls on this attachment to his name and memory will strengthen and increase. The people of Virginia are in mourning for the illustrious dead—the man for whom they have felt an affectionate reverence similar to that which their fathers felt for George Washington.

Members of the House voted yesterday to increase their salaries from $5,000 a year to $7,500. A few weeks ago they voted against this exact proposition, and sent the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill to the Senate, hoping the Senate would adopt the salary-grab provision for them. Instead of doing so the Senate not only rejected it, but cut from the measure the increase in the salary of the Speaker, for which the House had provided. Finding that the Senate would not pull its chestnuts from the fire, the House yesterday in the most shamefaced manner possible, sneakingly voted the salary increase into the bill and sent it to conference. No roll-call was had, nor was there even a division. Demand for tellers upon the adoption of the amendment was declared by Speaker Cannon to lack sufficient numbers to make it effective. At the time, however, a large number of members were standing in support of the demand, but the Speaker could count only thirty-four. When he declared the provision carried the House broke into applause and laughter. There is a general understanding that the Senate will now agree to the House proposition, being satisfied in having forced the House to assume responsibility for its adoption. Members who have been elected to the next Congress will get the benefit of today's action, and are, therefore, in the position of men who have voted to increase their own pay. The manner in which the salary grab was rushed through the House is open to the severest criticism.

From Washington.

Washington, Jan. 19.

The situation in the Senate over the Brownsville affair has passed through several phases during the week, the most interesting of which is the last. It has now reached the political stage. At this writing, it looks as if the democrats hold the better hand. On a show-down it is believed that sufficient republican votes could be obtained to pass the Blackburn amendment. It is hoped that the final vote on the Foraker resolution providing for the inquiry into the facts of the Brownsville affair may be taken early in the week. Senator Tillman will on Monday reply to the attack made upon him by Senator Spooner. On Tuesday Senator Sutherland, of Utah, will defend his colleague, Senator Smoot. Senator Beveridge will address the Senate Wednesday on his bill to prohibit the labor of children in mines and factories and sweat shops. Senator Rayner, on Thursday or Friday proposes to discuss the usurpation of executive power from the constitutional standpoint. The Senate's session on Saturday next will be devoted to eulogies on the late Senator Gorman, of Maryland.

Ship subsidy is the magic word that spells confusion in the House. It was so throughout the closing week and it looks as though it would be for the next two weeks to come. The measure, providing a mail subsidy only, under the guiding hand of Speaker Cannon, came from the merchant marine committee as a substitute for the Senate $50,000,000 measure. Chairman Burton will bring in his river and harbor appropriation bill next week. The subsidy measure, under a rule, will trail along the following week. Chairman Burton's opposition to subsidy legislation is marked, and his influence, commanded by the river and harbor bill, is such as to make the subsidy men fearful. The river and harbor bill will be ready for the House on Monday. When it is made public it will be seen just what power Mr. Burton holds to keep members in line against the mail carrying subsidy. Next week the diplomatic consular appropriation bill will share the time with the river and harbor appropriation bill.

Brigadier-General Funston, commanding the Department of California, has become an alarmist and has officially notified the War Department through his annual report that it would be an easy task for an energetic enemy to capture the city of San Francisco. This information has been received by the War Department officials without a murmur of protest, for they say it has been known to them that without men to man the guns, without mines for submarine defenses and without a sufficient reserve supply of ammunition it would not be possible to prevent the capture of the big seacoast cities. Gen. Funston's scare is explained in the close of his report in which he recommends increased pay for officers of the army. He declares that "a bricklayer, plasterer or plumber in San Francisco receives more pay than a captain of twenty years' service in the army. A bed carrier in the same city receives more pay than a second lieutenant."

A mammoth lobby is being conducted by line officers of the navy to obtain the passage by Congress of the bill to reorganize the personnel of the navy. The latest taken by this coterie of officers is to send a draft of a circular letter to each midshipman at the Naval Academy, which it is suggested the midshipmen address to their fathers asking them to write accordingly to their respective congressmen urging the passage of the personnel bill. This bill will make promotion faster in the line of the navy, and every officer is, therefore, personally interested in seeing it become a law. In the wild scramble by officers to get the bill passed, all thought of the naval regulation making it a serious offense for any officer to use influence, either directly or indirectly, to obtain congressional legislation, has been forgotten.

Chairman Shonts was not at his office today and it was stated by other officials of the Canal Commission who were present last evening at the White House conference when the MacArthur-Gillespie Company had a hearing on its protest against the Oliver-Bangs canal bid that no conclusion had been reached which would justify any announcements. Messrs. Oliver and Bangs will return to Washington Monday when they will be heard on the subject of their financial responsibility and engineering experience. The chief contention of the MacArthur-Gill spie Company is that its bid of 12.50 per cent. is not unreasonable and that owing to the company's resources and financial standing such a bid is better for the government than the Oliver-Bangs 6.75 per cent. proposition.

The Senate committee on immigration today ordered a favorable report on the bill to appropriate $70,000 for the building of an immigrant station at New Orleans on a site to be donated by the city.

Representative Livingston, of Georgia, who is one of the leading spirits in the effort to put the New York Cotton Exchange out of business, announced today that he would supplement his application to the Postoffice Department for a fraud order against the institution by a request to the department of commerce and labor to have the exchange thoroughly investigated.

Senator and Mrs. Martin left here yesterday and sailed from New York today for Italy, where they will remain sometime in the hope that Mrs. Martin's health will be restored. Senator Martin expressed his great regret at having to be absent any part of the session of Congress, but Mrs. Martin's physicians find it necessary that she take a sea voyage and spend some months in a milder climate. The climate of Washington is too trying on the throat trouble with which Mrs. Martin has been suffering for some time. While her physicians do not think the trouble alarming, they think she should have the benefit of a long sea voyage and spend the winter in Italy, the south of France and Egypt. Senator Martin will close his house in Washington. Col. C. Fenton Day and his wife, parents of Mrs. Martin, will have charge of the two children in the interval of their absence. Senator Martin is paired in the Senate on all political questions with Senator Cullom, of Illinois. Mr. Leslie H. Martin, brother of the Senator and his private secretary, will attend to the Senator's correspondence. Senator Martin has arranged, so far as possible, to have Senator Daniel take charge of the matters to which he had been devoting special attention.

The United States army is preparing for whatever eventualities may arise in Cuba. A military map is to be made of the island and an extra company of engineers will shortly be dispatched to Havana.

New York Stock Market.

New York, Jan. 19.—Stocks slumped again today on the stock market and the lowest records for weeks were reached by many securities. Evidences of banking support were visible after the opening and with the covering of short contracts there was a slight rally. The liquidation was heavy from cities all over the country and houses with wire connections were heavy sellers. Calls for more margins were not freely responded to, and accounts of customers were closed out immediately. Reports were current on the floor of the exchange that the Morgan and standard Oil interests had locked horns in a mighty battle and that for the first time in many years the Morgan crowd was arrayed on the bear side.

The house yesterday by a vote of 133 to 92 amended the legislative appropriation bill when sent back by the Senate by increasing the salaries of its members from $5,000 to $7,500 a year. An urgent deficiency bill was passed, and the balance of the session was consumed in the consideration of private claims.

The refusal of a priest to bless the remains of two workmen killed in a street fight at Lodz, Russian Poland, exasperated at the funeral of the men yesterday, led to a conflict in the church between the congregation and a band of socialists. "There is to be an investigation of Senator Bailey's conduct," said Representative Coke in Austin, Texas, yesterday. A severe undulatory earth shock was felt at Tolmezzo, 29 miles from Udine, Italy, at 4:20 yesterday morning. The inhabitants, panic-stricken, fled from their houses into the streets. There was no loss of life. Tolmezzo is situated at the southern foot of the Carnic Alps, near the Tagliamento. It is noted for its immense rainfall, the annual precipitation amounting to about 96 inches. The population of the town is about 2,000 and of the commune over 5,000.

Based on a recent statement of Gov. Vardaman, of Mississippi, that if he were a delegate to the next national convention he would not vote against a proposition for the federal government to own and operate the railroads of the United States, Representative Williams, the minority leader, a candidate for the democratic senatorial nomination against Mr. Vardaman, last night issued a challenge to the governor to debate the question, Mr. Williams taking the anti-government ownership end.

Make Smith and his son Charles, 17 years old, have been arrested and will be tried for murder next week at Troy, N. C., on the charge of killing Milton Bunnell, a Confederate veteran, for his money, one night last week. Bunnell called at the home of the Smiths and exhibited some gold coins. When he started home the Smiths, according to the son's story, planned to kill and rob him. They followed Bunnell, and when they caught up with him Charles Smith killed him with an axe. They then rifled Bunnell's pockets and placed the body on the railroad track, where a train ran over it. Make Smith denies participation in the crime.

Proposed Penalty for Assault.

An unusual bill has been introduced in the Delaware Legislature by Representative Holcomb (democrat), of New Castle. In addition to providing a punishment of 20 years for persons convicted of attempting to assault women, it stipulates that a surgical operation shall be performed. It was stated yesterday that many members of the House, both democrates and republicans, have promised to vote for the measure. If the bill is enacted Delaware will be the first State to provide such a drastic penalty. The matter has been advocated in several southern States, but has not been enacted. The measure is inspired by numerous recent attempted assaults upon white women in Delaware by negroes.

James Ward, a young negro, who shot and killed his sweetheart, Carrie Meekins, last summer, was hanged in the Richmond jail at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning in the presence of about 100 people. The negro slept soundly all night, and when awakened at 5 o'clock asked to be allowed to sleep a little longer. The request was granted. At 6:30 o'clock he dressed and afterwards ate a hearty breakfast. Catholic clergymen and two Franciscan sisters conducted religious services, in which Ward joined with great fervor. He was calm on the scaffold. Many thought the negro's mind was affected, as prior to his death he resisted all efforts of friends to try to save his life. He said he wanted to die.

GEN. LEE'S FAREWELL ADDRESS

The following is the farewell address of Gen. Lee to the Army of Northern Virginia after the surrender at Appomattox.

Headq'rs Army of Northern Virginia, General Order No. 9.

After four years of arduous service marked by unsurpassed courage and fortitude, the Army of Northern Virginia has been compelled to yield to overwhelming numbers and resources.

I need not tell the survivors of so many hard-fought battles who have remained steadfast to the last that I have consented to this result from no distrust of them; but feeling that valor and devotion could accomplish nothing that would compensate for the loss that must have attended the continuance of the contest, I determined to avoid the useless sacrifice of those whose past services have endeared them to their countrymen. By the terms of the agreement, officers and men can return to their homes and remain until exchanged.

You may take with you the satisfaction that proceeds from the consciousness of duty faithfully performed, and I earnestly pray that a merciful God will extend to you His blessing and protection.

With an unconcising admiration of your constancy and devotion to your country, and a grateful rememberance of your kind and generous consideration of myself, I bid you all an affectionate farewell.

R. E. LEE,
General.

An English General's Tribute.

Field Marshal Viscount Wolseley, of the British army, who was an observer with Lee's army during several campaigns, wrote of the great commander:

"Every incident in my visit to General Lee is indelibly stamped on my memory. I have taken no special trouble to remember all he said to me then and during subsequent conversations, and yet it is still fresh in my recollection. But it is natural it should be so, for he was the ablest general, and to me seemed the greatest man, I ever conversed with; and yet I have had the privilege of meeting Von Moltke and Prince Bismarck, and at least upon one occasion had a very long and intensely interesting conversation with the latter. General Lee was one of the few men who ever seriously impressed and awed me with their natural, their inherent greatness. Forty years have come and gone since our meeting, yet the majesty of his manly bearing, the genial winning grace, the sweetness of his smile and the impressive dignity of his old-fashioned style of address come back to me among the most cherished of my recollections. His greatness made me humble, and I never felt my own individual insignificance more keenly than I did in his presence. His was a beautiful character, and of him it might truthfully be written: 'In rightousness he did judge and make war.'"

ANOTHER RAILROAD HORROR.

Fog Causes Wreck of a Passenger Train—Numbers Killed or Burned to Death—Many Injured.—Most of them Fatally

Fowler, Ind., Jan. 19.—A disastrous wreck occurred near here on the Big Four Railroad at 2:30 this morning, and it is reported that twenty-five persons are dead and forty injured, of whom 25 will die. The entire train burned.

Passenger train No. 38, which left Chicago at 11:30 p. m., collided with a freight train a short distance from the station.

The wreckage caught fire and passengers were pinned under the ruins and being unable to escape, were roasted to death.

The train is known as the "Queen City Special," and carries a sleeper, a day coach from Chicago to Cincinnati, and a sleeper to Indianapolis.

The passenger train, running at high speed, crashed into the rear of the freight.

Most of the passengers were asleep in their berths and had no chance to escape. They must have been killed outright. Those who were injured and unable to escape were cremated in the flames which followed quickly.

Aid was dispatched for as quickly as [illegible] the scene of the disaster, and [illegible] injured w[illegible]

Attention was first turned to the injured, many of whom were pinned underneath the wreckage and being burned to death. At least half a dozen lost their lives in this horrible manner. The first relief train with the injured started back for Lafayette at 6 o'clock this morning.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—Superintendent Houghton of the Big Four have given out the following statement:

"The wreck near Fowler was due to a dense fog. Our list shows fifteen known to be cremated and eight killed outright, their bodies being removed from the wreck before the fire reached them. Owing to the rapid spreading of the fire which was fanned by a strong east wind, it will probably not be known exactly the number of dead, but the remains of fifteen bodies, badly charred, have been taken out. The wreck is rapidly being cleared away."

A later dispatch says that at least twenty-five people were killed, twenty of whom were cremated. The sleeping cars were not destroyed by fire, as at first reported.

Thaw Meets His Sister.

New York, Jan. 19.—Harry Thaw and his sister, the Countess of Yarmouth, were reunited today in the gloomy corridors of the Tombs prison, where the young millionaire awaits his trial for the murder of Architect Stanford White. Family differences were rolled away in a fond embrace, and the kiss of brother and sister in the presence of Mrs. Wm. Thaw, the mother, and Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, the wife. The Countess arrived in America yesterday to be with the Thaw family during the trial. Should Harry Thaw's defense be insanity, the Countess of Yarmouth may take the witness stand to tell the story of her brother's peculiarities and habits. The Countess has told her brother's lawyers she will do anything possible to save her brother. It is understood that none of the Thaw family will seek to change the plan of the defense now agreed upon by Thaw and his lawyers. The opening of the trial has been postponed probably until Thursday.

General Lee's Birthday.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 19.—The Lee anniversary was observed throughout Virginia today. Bishop A. N. Randolph delivered an address at St. Paul's Episcopal Church which General Lee and President Davis both attended during the war, when events premitted. In the afternoon there will be a great parade to the Lee monument, which 10,000 public school children will decorate. At night all the Confederate Camps and memorial organizations will join in similar exercises at Lee Camp Hall. At Lexington where General Lee is buried, the principal address was made by Charles Francis Adams of Boston. Governor Swanson of Virginia spoke at Roanoke. Exercises were also held at noon at Fredericksburg, Alexandria, West Point, Chester, Petersburg, Palmyra, Staunton, Norfolk, and Charlottesville.

Baker Knocked Out.

Los Angeles, Cala., Jan. 19.—Abe Attell administered a severe beating to Harry Baker and then put him away in the eighth round of their fight last night before the Pacific Athletic Club. Baker's seconds threw up the sponge when it was seen that their man was collapsing. Attell really knocked out Baker in the seventh round. He shot a short left to the jaw and Baker went to the floor. Referee Jim Jeffories was counting him out when the bell rang. Baker was falling in the eighth round when the sponge flew in the ring.

Device to Draw Congregations.

Baltimore, Jan. 19.—With the view of swelling dwindling church attendances Rev. Dr. Joel T. Rossiter, of the First Reformed Church, proposes to instal a blazing electric sign over his church. Dr. Rossiter says crowds are attracted to the theatres by great electric signs and he sees no reason why churches should not advertise their services in the same way.

High Water.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 19.—At noon today the market guage showed 21.9. This is just .1 below the danger line which is 22 feet. There is little doubt that by evening the river will be approaching closely the 25 feet mark. About equal portions of the flood is coming ont of the Allegheny and Monongahela.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Shoop's. For years Dr. Shoop has fought against the use of Opium, Chloroform, or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in Cough remedies. Dr. Shoop, it seems, has welcomed the Pure Food and Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines many years. For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure containers have had a warning printed on them against Opium and other narcotic poisons. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.

GRAVE CONDITIONS IN JAMAICA.

Famine, Scarcity of Water and Pestilence Follow Earthquake—Death List Over 1,700—Seven Hundred Bodies Buried.

Kingston, Jamaica, Jan. 19. (via Holland Bay).—Famine and a scarcity of water today threaten this unhappy city, and a new terror has been added that the whole town may be buried under streams of black mud which are oozing from fissures open in the earth. To increase the confusion fresh shocks have shaken the city. Belief is growing even among the whites of the disaster that Kingston is doomed. Among the negroes the fresh phenomena has caused a panic equalled only by that which seized them when the first upheaval brought down their homes. Disease, as predicted, is beginning to make its appearance. The vegetable diet and impure water to which every one has been driven is getting in its work. Pestilence stalks the streets. Physicians who have been devoting themselves to the care of the injured in the earthquake are now being called on to treat diseased persons. And there are no medicines. Over all, to make Kingston the terror city it is, hangs the dread of sudden immersion in the sea, as indicated by the sinking of the streets from which oozes black mud. The subsidence of the shore line continues and there is every evidence that the earth's crust for many miles around the city is being broken by subterranean forces.

The sea is black with mud.

London, Jan. 19.—Seven hundred bodies have been buried and one thousand and seventeen other bodies have been recovered from the ruins and either have been or are awaiting identification, while a large number of persons are still reported missing, according to an official report just received from Kingston by the Evening News. The figures were compiled by those in charge of the work of rescuing the dead bodies from the ruins. The message was dated Friday and had evidently been delayed in transmission.

Havana, Jan. 19.—The report yesterday that the cruiser Columbia had received a wireless message from Admiral Evans that there had been a tidal wave, on the Kingston side of the island of Jamaica, is not confirmed. The facts appear to be that a tidal wave struck Annotta Bay, on the north side of the island on Thursday and that at about the same time there was an alarming subsidence of nearly eight feet in the coast line about Kingston, Bay, and along the South side of the island. The mistake occured through the misreading of signals.

Kingston, (via Holland Bay,) Jan. 19. 9:15 a. m. (delayed in transmission. What amounts to martial law is today in force here. Hundreds of Blue Jackets, landed from the American battleships Indiana, and Missouri, are marching shoulder to shoulder with member of the British garrison as they move about on patrol duty. Order is rapidly coming out of the chaos.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The State Department today received the following cablegram from the American consul at Port Antonio, Jamaica, which was dated 6:16 p. m., January 18: "Kingston destroyed by earthquake and fire; death probably 1,000. No casualties Port Antonio, all Americans safe; some property damaged here; people terrified; business suspendee. Have no information of Kingston consul". The Navy Department has received a cablegram from Rear Admiral R. D. Evans, dated, Guantanamo, Cuba, last night. He states that the tarpedo boat destroyer Whipple has returned to Guantanamo from Kingston and that her commander reports that the business district of Kingston had been totally destroyed, that all American citizens are safe and that the wharves in the bay are intact. None of the shipping was damaged, according to this report.

Suit Against a Cancer Doctor.

Paris, Jan. 19.—The hearing of the suit of George Crocker, of New York, against Dr. Doyen, the cancer specialist, growing out of the latter's failure to cure Mrs. Crocker in 1904, was resumed in the first civil tribunal today. Crocker is seeking to collect $20,000 he paid to Dr. Doyen in advance for undertaking the cure. Postponement was taken until next Saturday late this afternoon. Dr. Doyen will then be heard in defense of his serum.

Murder Mystery.

New York, Jan. 19.—His head crushed in and his body filled with stab wounds, the body of an unknown Italian, found lying in a gutter in Little Italy, early this morning, gave the police a grewsome murder to solve. The Italian was a victim of "black hand." Beside the mutilated body was found a clever, covered with blood and a long stiletto, the face of the victim was badly hacked and gashed making identification impossible.

Secretary Taft and Party in Charleston.

Charleston, S. C., Jan. 19.—Secretary of War Taft and party arrived here from Washington as guests of the city of Charleston, to attend a meeting of the Carolina Branch of the Red Cross tonight. Secretary Taft, Col. W. C. Sanger, of the New York branch of the Red Cross, and Miss Mabel Boardman, will speak.

Head-on Collision.

Sumpter, S. C., Jan. 19.—A head-on collision occurred on the Atlantic Coast Line, today near Denmark, 80 miles south of here, when passenger train No 35 crashed into a freight, both engines were demolished. One postal clerk was seriously hurt and several passengers are reported injured.

STEAMSHIP SUNK.

The Vaderland Collides with the Haworth Castle, Sinking the Latter—Several Persons Drowned.

London, Jan. 19.—The steamer Haworth Castle was sunk this morning off the dreaded Goodwin Sands in a collision with the steamer Vaderland, of the Red Star line. Many persons were injured in the crash, and three members of the crew of the Haworth Castle are missing.

The vessels came together during a heavy fog. Panic reigned on both steamers and it was with difficulty passengers were restrained from leaping overboard. Within a few moments after the Haworth Castle was struck she went down. Boats were lowered by the Vaderland and twenty members of the crew were picked up in the water. The Vederland lay to for an hour near the scene of the collision while her life boats kept up a search for persons afloat on wreckage.

On board the Vaderland there was a terrible panic. Men, women and children rushed to and fro crying wildly and wringing their hands. When the life boats were lowered it added to the confusion.

The bow of the Vaderland was damaged below the water-line, and her fore-

[illegible] was shot and probably fatally wou[illegible] about three miles from the proving grounds yesterday afternoon. According to the statement of Posey's brother, the wounds were inflicted by Mrs. Mollie Bowie and her son, Henry Bowie, mother and brother of the girl. Mrs. Bowie was armed with a revolver, it is said, and her son with a shotgun. Both weapons aided in inflicting the wounds which now menace Posey's life.

Naval tug No. 707, of the Washington navy yard, carried the desperately wounded man to Washington. Posey was in a semi-conscious condition when he reached Washington, but was either unable to or was disinclined to give any details of the shooting. His injuries consist of a gunshot wound in the shoulder and two pistol wounds in the small of the back. The latter wounds, it is feared, will result fatally.

Bernard Posey, a brother, accompanied the injured man to Washington, and described the circumstances of the shooting. Hubert, he said, was employed in the powder factory, and was accosted by Mrs. Bowie and her son after finishing his work.

"After crossing the creek," he said, "Hubert approached a vacant house. Mrs. Bowie and son came from the house, and stood on the other side of a wire fence between the house and the road. They told Hubert to stop, and then demanded that he marry 'Sis' Bowie, a daughter of Mrs. Bowie, who had been Hubert's sweetheart.

"When Hubert refused, they both attempted to catch him through the wire fence, but he got away from them and started on a run down the road.

"Mrs. Bowie opened fire with a revolver, firing three or four shots. Two of them took effect. Henry Bowie also fired. He had a shotgun. The entire load lodged in Hubert's back."

Bernard Posey also made a statement that the Bowies had obtained a license for the marriage of his brother to the girl, and asserted that they had threatened his life if he did not consent. His brother, he said, realized he was in danger and had Mrs. Bowie bound over to keep the peace. This was several days ago, so Bernard Posey says, and his brother, until the attack yesterday, though the matter had been ended,

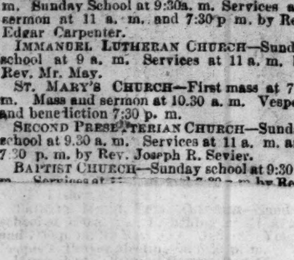
Gen. Lee's Birthday.



Today is General Lee's birthday, a holiday in Virginia and in the southern States, and is being observed as such. In this city the banks and the public offices have been closed, and honors have been paid to the memory of the great chieftain throughout the day. The dismal weather, with occasional sprinklings of rain, together with the melting ice and snow, have interferred somewhat with the programmes which had been prepared. They were all, however, carried out and those participating did so with earnestness.

This morning at nine o'clock, at the request of the State School Board, the teachers and pupils of the public schools assembled in their respective buildings where appropriate exercises were held. Superintendent Kemper read the Governor's proclamation and made a short address; the teachers read extracts from the life of Gen. Lee or articles bearing upon his valiant deeds, and the pupils wrote compositions or read or recited selections from various authors relating to the great Virginian whose birthday they were celebrating. The exercises were very interesting.

At noon memorial exercises were held at Christ Church where a large congregation had assembled. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, W. H. May, commander, and the Sons of Veterans assembled at their hall on Prince street and marched in a body to the church where they took seats which had been reserved for them. In the reserved seats were also the members of the Woman's Auxiliary to the camp and members of the several chapters of the U. D. C.

The programme of exercises was as follows:

Processional hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers;" opening sentences, Psalm xxxvii:37, Rev. xiv:13; Lord's prayer; Psalms 1 to 15, read responsively; lesson taken from the eleventh chapter of Hebrews; hymn, "Prayer Is the Soul's Sincere Desire;" apostle's creed, collects and prayer; hymn, "How Firm a Foundation Ye Saints of the Lord." This was followed by addresses by Rev. Dr. W. F. Fisher, pastor of the Baptist Church, and Rev. W. J. Morton, rector of Christ Protestant Episcopal Church. The closing hymn was "For All the Saints Who From Their Labors Rest," and was followed by the benediction. The hymns were Gen. Lee's favorites.

Dr. Fisher made an interesting discourse on the life and character of Lee, from his boyhood to the end, dwelling chiefly on his character and self sacrifice and told of the honors he had put aside for the sake of his people and of his State. He spoke also of his wonderful personality and how he was loved by old and young alike. His discourse was not only interesting but very instructive and was listened to with rapt [illegible]

[r. Morton made a very short [illegible]welling chiefly on Gen. Lee's [illegible]ty. He told how he had been [illegible] in Christ Church by Bishop [illegible]o said at the time that he [illegible] Lee would serve his church [illegible]ly as he did his country, which [illegible]been fully realized. He conquoting the tribute paid to [illegible]y Senator Ben Hill. Bishop [illegible] present in the chancel and [illegible] the services.

[illegible] the celebration will close with [illegible] banquet of Lee Camp, to be [illegible] their ball. This banquet [illegible]rved by the ladies of the [illegible] Auxiliary and promises [illegible] of the most enjoyable ever [illegible] city. The committee of the [illegible]g charge of the affair is composed of Thomas Perry, chairman; Edgar Warfield, G. W. Ramsay, P. F. Gorman, F. J. Davidson, R. M. Latham and Charles S. Taylor, and they will spare no pains in making it a success. The speakers will be Congressman John Lamb, of Richmond, Mr. J. M. Johnson, Mr. C. C. Carlin and others.

Special memorial services will be held at Liggett Hall at the Episcopal High School, near this city, tonight. Dr. L. M. Blackford will preside and Mr. Willoughby Reid will read extracts from the life of General Lee. Col. Arthur Herbert will deliver an address and there will be other interesting features.

At the Episcopal Theological Seminary tomorrow, Sunday, Rev. Dr. Wallis will deliver an address on the life and character of General Lee.

The School Exercises.

Notwithstanding the gloomy day the enthusiasm and reverence of Gen. Lee was clearly shown by the attendance of the young ladies of Lee High School. The programme was thoroughly enjoyed and reflected great credit on those who participated in it. The exercises clearly showed that the years have only added an increasnd lurter to Lee's name and [illegible]

[illegible] Double Blue Flag, the school; "The Sword of Lee," Father Ryan, Miss Sarah Schafer; remarks, Miss Florence Peverill; "Gone Forward," Margaret Preston, Miss Evelyn McCuen; song, "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," the school.

The exercises in Lee School No 2, taught by Miss R. L. Broadus, were as follows: Reading of the governor's proclamation by the teacher; song, "America," by the school; sketch of Gen. Lee, read by Julia Davis; James Barron Hope's "Robert E. Lee," recited by Rebecca Germond; eulogies on Gen. Lee, recited by Mary Harrington, Ellen Nagel, Mary DeVaughan, Nellie Walker and Coralie Greenaway; "Flags of a Nation That Fell," by Julia Davis; song, "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground," by Nannie Godfrey, Minnie Pettit, Ida Zimmerman and Coralie Greenaway; "One of Our Boys," read by Rebecca Germond; "The Sword of Lee," recited by Minnie Pettit; "Gen. Lee's Farewell Address," read by Lillian Davis; "Appomattox," recited by Nannie Godfrey; Worseley's poem to Lee, recited by Ada Walker; address by Rev. W. F. Fisher; hymn, "A Few More Marchings Weary," by the school, and "Dixie."

The exercises prepared by the pupils in the 8th, 9th and 10th grades—the principal's (Col. T. H. Ficklin) room—of Washington School were not only impressive but highly instructive to the appreciative audience. Speeches were made by Talbot and Leslie McCuen, Thibedeaux Creighton and Lewis Fawcett, who acquitted themselves as youthful orators in a very creditable manner.

In the 6th grade, Mr. Greenwell's room, the exercises were carefully prepared, appropriate and entertaining.

In the school taught by Miss Anna N. Summers Rev. C D. Bulla and Mr. J R. Caton made instructive and highly interesting addresses.

The pupils of the other grades manifested by close attention the interest they took in the celebration.

The exercises in Snowden School, colored boys, and of Hallowell School, colored girls, were very interesting and creditable. The recitations, readings and songs were all well rendered.

A Good Stock Company.

Next week there is coming to the Opera House a charming little actress who, it is believed, will become a great favorite by reason of the fact that she will be seen in one of the best reportoire of plays that has ever been presented on the stage of this theatre. We refer to dainty little May Hillman, who next Monday night will appear in the leading role in "Charity Bess," a play of great beauty and strength, in which Miss Hillman has scored a great triumph. Her supporting company is an ideal one in every particular, and the scenic embelishments are something entirely out of the ordinary. With due regard for the excellent productions seen here this season, the declaration is, however, made with a full knowledge of its import that Miss Hillman will present the strongest line of plays ever offered here at popular prices.

Mrs. Nation Lectures Again.

Mrs. Carrie Nation made her second appearance in Alexandria last night. Her lecture had been advertised and nothwithstanding the inclement weather the Opera House was well-filled, many ladies being in the audience. Good order was observed during the delivery of the lecture, which was interesting and amusing. Mrs. Nation announced that she would reappear at the Opera House tomorrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock, provided she can procure the hall, when her lecture will be directed to men.

Death of Mrs Kavan.

Mrs. Elizabeth L. Kavan, widow of Edward Kavan, died at 415 Cameron street late yesterday afternoon. The deceased was 59 years old. Mrs Kavan was a native of Appomattox county, and had lived in Alexandria between fourteen and fifteen years. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon from Mr. B. Wheatley's undertaking parlors.

The condition of Mr. G. Mason Smith, who has been quite ill for several days at the residence of his mother on south Alfred street, is very little improved.

Accident at the Southern Depot

John Welch, living in the southwestern section of the city, was fatally injured while at work at the Southern Railway depot shortly after nine o'clock last night and B. Whalper, a native of Pennsylvania, was so seriously injured that his condition is causing anxiety

Mr. Whalper is a machinist, and with Mr. Welch, his helper, was under a locomotive which was standing at the coal chute, making repairs. From some explained reason the engine began to move and the two men barely emerged from under it in time to escape being crushed by the wheels. They, however, found themselves in a narrow place between the moving engine and the sand bin, and what is known as the "pocket" on the tender, in which a "jack" is carried, caught the unfortunate men in the narrow place in which they were standing and terribly crushed them against the bin. Welch's left side was mashed, nearly all the ribs having been broken, as was also one arm, while he was injured internally. Both men were turned around and around between the tender and the sand bin, and that they were not instantly killed is miraculous.

Upon the discovery of the accident the two men were conveyed to the Alexandria Hospital where they were attended by Dr. W. M. Smith. It was soon seen that Welch could not survive his injuries nor the terrible shock he had experienced, and he died at an early hour this morning. Whalper, however, though very seriously injured, may recover. Welch was about 27 years old. Whalper is 50.

It is said that a leaking throttle put the locomotive in motion.

Decree Entered.

Judge Nicol of the Circuit Court of Alexandria county on yesterday entered a decree in the Chancery cause of Emma K. Rogers vs. Charles Bradley, William B. Gurley, William A. Gordon and John C. Heald, dismissing the bill of complaint at the cost of the complainant. This suit was brought by L. E. Phillips, an attorney at law practicing in Washington city, on behalf of the complainant, alleging fraud and mismanagement in the affairs of a syndicate known as Ivanwold Syndicate, purchasers of a large and valuable tract of land in Alexandria county said now to be worth from fifty to seventy-five thousands dollars, and seeking to set aside certain deeds made under trust sales in the winding up of the said syndicate, and to declare that the property was held in trust by the present owner, Charles S. Bradley, for the use and benefit of the complainant and other share holders in said syndicate. The litigation has been hotly contested in which answers were filed by the defendants denying the allegations of the bill of complaint accompanied with exhibits taken from the records of the syndicate showing conclusively there was no foundation for the charges set forth in the bill, and after depositions had been taken in the cause on behalf of the complainant the court entered a decree setting forth that the charges of the bill of complaint were not sustained and that there was nothing whatever in the record to justify a decree according to the allegations of the complainant's bill, and the same was dismissed, as above. The defendants were represented by Jas. R. & H. B. Caton and R. W. Moore.

Bashford; treasurer, Mrs. W. M. Priest; financial secretary, Miss I. Nugent; sentinel, Miss Mary Farquer; mistress-at-arms, Mrs. Charles Baggott. Mrs. Zoro Hill, the retiring president, was presented with a handsome gold emblem of the order by the members of the auxiliary. Rev. Dean Swift's Battle For the Rights of Ireland.

The Drapier letters, six of which, signed "M. B. Drapier," appeared in a Dublin newspaper in 1724, mark an era in Irish history. They were the work of Dean Swift, the author of "Gulliver's Travels." The occasion calling them forth was the grant of a patent in 1723 to William Wood, an Englishman of Birmingham, to coin halfpence and farthings to the extent of £108,000 to be current in Ireland, where there was a deficiency of copper coinage. Public feeling in Ireland was in a state of irritation at its treatment by England, and Swift took advantage of this coinage business to advocate the rights of Ireland. Under the mask of a plain, honest, patriotic tradesman he counseled all true patriots not only to refuse to take the new coinage, but to refrain from using any English manufactures whatever. The result was tremendous. No one would take Wood's money, and associations were formed for refusing the currency. The publication of the first three letters had so roused the temper of Ireland that it was now easy for Swift to come to the real point of issue. In the fourth letter he accordingly treats of the royal prerogative. The government instantly took alarm and offered a reward of £300 for the discovery of the author of this fourth letter. Its printer was thrown into prison. But all was in vain. The government yielded to the storm. Wood's patent was surrendered, the patentee being indemnified by a grant of £3,000 yearly for twelve years. Thus, through the force and animation of Swift's arguments, victoriously terminated the first grand struggle for the independence of Ireland.—London Tit-Bits.

Building Material of the Future and Its Advantages.

The advantages of concrete on the mechanical side are these: It is proof against fire, wind and water, rats, insects and dry rot and the danger of electricity. It needs no painting or repair. Fire or water overflow inside can do only local damage to the contents of a room and no more.

It becomes stronger and harder with age, which is, of course, an advantage, except when additions or alterations are made, involving hard work to cut the walls and floors. There are no leaky roofs, no damp or cold east or north rooms. There is great economy of heating. Being a firm mass throughout, like a house made of baked clay, there is no vibration, and in case one spot of the foundation should be undermined the well knit structure might not show so much as a crack. It is practically earthquake proof.

Concrete is healthful because it leaves no fissures for dust or for insects which spread disease. It is cool in summer and warm in winter, and with a minimum of exertion can be kept sweet and clean. On the artistic side, as the house beautiful, it lends itself to sculpture and painting, and as an object on the landscape it can be made a joy to the eyes.—Country Life In America.

Red and White Wine.

"A misapprehension about the strength of red and white wines exists," said a vine grower. "Because red wine has a darker, richer look people think it is more intoxicating. The opposite, really, is the case. Red wines are made by fermenting grape juice, skins and seeds together. White wines are made by fermenting juice alone. In the skins and seeds there is a lot of tannin, and red wine contains much tannin, while white wine contains none. This tannin, an astringent, closes the pores of the stomach and prevents the alcohol in the red wine from entering the blood freely and going, as the saying is, to the head. White wine, champagne for instance, has no tannin, and hence its intoxicating properties are much more keenly to be feared than those of the tannin filled red wine."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Industrious Chinese Children.

The Chinese are a wonderfully industrious people, and their children learn very early to make themselves useful. In the streets of a Chinese town it is no uncommon sight to see two children who are so young that they can hardly talk trotting along with a bamboo pole on their shoulders by which they are carrying home a pail of water. If one child is stronger than the other the pail is hung near his shoulder, for thus he takes the "heavy end of the pole."
